The present intention is to discharge her and put her into winter quarters here. The crew will return down the river in small boats.

This local item in our last issue referring to Mr. H. McKay said that an insect bit him while cutting hay "yesterday" which would be Sunday. The occurrence took place last Thursday and the item was written the following day. The proofreader overlooked the word in correcting. Every one who knows Mr. McKay knows he would not cut hay on Sunday.

F. A. BRICK had a lively time for a few minutes on Jasper avenue last Monday evening. He was riding a fresh horse which swerved down till opposite the Alberta when it fell over on to the sidewalk by catching its leg in a notch in one of the planks. When Brick remounted the horse jumped over the sidewalk and came back to Main street, past Sutter's store, then backed between a wagon and the sidewalk, and finally started at the top speed west along Jasper avenue.

ALEX. BROADFOOT, of Berea, Iowa, arrived on Monday's train on a tour of inspection of the Edmonton district. Mr. Broadfoot left Iowa sometime early in July, and has travelled by easy stages since looking up the respective agricultural advantages of Dakota, Manitoba, Assiniboia and Alberta, with a view to the future location of himself and sons and incidentally of a number of his Iowa neighbors who are being crowded out of Iowa by deer land and large families. Iowa is a thrifty and prosperous state blessed with a fertile soil and productive climate, but the attractions of the state have been so great that population has become crowded and land increased in price so that there must be an overflow somewhere. Mr. Broadfoot is originally from Huron county, Ont., and settled in Kansas about 1883. After remaining there for a number of prosperous years he began to distrust the eccentricities of the climate and sold out the good advantage, afterwards removing to Iowa. Mr. Broadfoot viewed the two towns on Tuesday in company with Mr. Mackenzie, of South Edmonton, and on Wednesday drove out to Stony Plain with W. S. Robertson. He leaves for the south to-morrow.

RAIN on Monday night worried the hay makers but still further helped the crops.

HAY cutting is general. There is a goodly quantity of it and the quality in all that could be desired.

BINDING twine is being briskly enquired for. The cash price is ten cents a pound, one cent off or last season.

STRAWBERRIES are still abundant at $1 a pail. Red currants are abundant. Wild raspberries are ripening and will be a large crop.

R. W. STEWART, of Macleod, brother of Dr. Stewart, Edmonton, came up on Monday's train. Mr. Stewart is dealing in the Macleod district in imported cattle. He went south on Tuesday.

THERE were two nominations yesterday for the vacant seat on the school board, namely J. A. McDougall and J. Lauder. At 11.30 Mr. McDougall withdrew in favor of Mr. Lauder, who was therefore declared duly elected.

D. R. FRASER's saw mill was shut down yesterday for the season, having sawn about 300,000 feet of lumber. There are three rafts of logs left which will be used for supplying special orders. The grist mill will be worked more or less right along.

THE ladies aid of the Methodist church will give a garden party on the grounds of Mr. F. E. Graham next Monday, from 5 to 9 p. m. Admission to ground free. Recreations and music will be provided.

A MEETING in support of A. C. Rutherford's candidature for the legislative assembly is announced to be held in Robertson hall to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. Other candidates or their friends are invited and will be given an opportunity to speak.

AT the barracks last Tuesday before Insp. Snyder, J. P., A. McLeod was charged by J. Hall with embezzling a watch. The case was adjourned until next Tuesday on insufficient evidence was submitted. H. H. Robertson defended, J. C. F. Bown prosecuted.

R. F. FETTERIDGE, of the South Edmonton News, returned on Monday's train from a trip through the Kootenay country. He reports mining operations booming there, and prospects steadily improving. He was at Revelstoke, Trail and Rossland. The latter he describes as a town nearly as large as Calgary.

J. WALSH, the veteran fur buyer, has decided to retire from business in about a month. He will be 80 years of age in December and will retire to his place at Alameda, Assa., where he has a farm of 640 acres. He intends to take a rest for the balance of this day if his energetic spirit will allow him.

M. McCALLIE held a meeting at Fonquet school house on Tuesday evening. The roads were bad and there was a small attendance. He addressed the electors present, who showed considerable interest in his candidature. Next Saturday afternoon a meeting will be held at the same place to elect a road overseer, at which probably Mr. McCauley and Mr. Rutherford will be present to canvas.

A. DAVIDSON has lost a large number of lambs and some sheep by coyotes this season. W. Nicolson, of Sturgeon settlement, has also lost some, from the same cause. Indeed there seems to be a general complaint that coyotes are becoming very much more bold and troublesome than usual. The reason is the decrease of rabbits, which are the principal food of the coyotes, compelling them to search for food closer to the settlements than before.

THE Neepawa Press, a newspaper venture in one of the most flourishing towns in Northwestern Manitoba, is to hand. It is a handsome, lively five column, 8 page weekly, and is managed and edited by Alex. Dunlop, who at one time had an interest in the BULLETIN. Mr. Dunlop has for many years been connected with the Manitoba Free Press. His large experience on the two leading papers of the west—the BULLETIN and Free Press—shows its value in the get up of the Neepawa Press. The Press is liberal in politics.

BARLEY is ready to cut in some fields on Stony Plain and a large number will be ready to cut on Monday, August 3rd. This is much earlier than usual. The crop is fair but the straw is short. Wheat is reported to be a fairly good crop throughout the district, having had the choice of land and being better able to stand dry weather than oats or barley it has done better than either. Oats have suffered most and are generally very short in the straw. Speaking generally the prospect is: an early harvest, a light yield and a good sample of grain.

A MEETING of the license commissioners was held in J. McDonald's office last Tuesday afternoon to consider the applications for licenses of B. F. Boyce, Dr. H. House, Wetaskiwin; W. H. Howard, Raymond House, South Edmonton; and Frank Dumont, of the Green's, Wetaskiwin. The board recommended that the two first applications be granted and that Dumont's be refused on the general grounds of the inspector's report and that in the opinion of the board it was not necessary for public convenience.

C. W. SUTTER, J. P., had a complicated wages case before him on Thursday last in A. McLeod and T. Hall for $70 wages for work performed at Mr. Hall's lumber mill. The evidence showed that McLeod engaged as sawyer at $30 per month and afterwards changed off to the planer and then drove the engine and planer and finally took the place of a man who had been receiving $20 per month. The evidence was conflicting and the justice reserved his decision until Monday when he gave judgment for McLeod for $55.79. H. H. Robertson conducted McLeod's case and Hall conducted his own.

There are about 100 miners working down the river now and the number is being increased rapidly. Cameron and Macdonald bring the third load of dynamite for many of them and sell it. All the miners over the route are doing well.

SEVERAL citizens attended the council meeting on Tuesday night and complained that their coves had been driven from their own premises and impounded and that the poundage fee of $2.00 was too high. The council had given the poundkeeper definite instructions and if any definite charge was made of his having exceeded his instructions they would investigate it. It was also decided that the $2.00 which had been equally divided between the council and the poundkeeper should be reduced to $1.00 which was the poundkeeper's fee. Instructions were issued to refund the council's dollar to all who had paid the same.

MACKENZIE RIVER MISSIONS.

Bishop Reeve, of Mackenzie river, arrived in town last night. He met Rev. Mr. Stringer and his party at Fort Smith. The Bishop left Mackenzie river on June 29th, and at that time the barley crop was just coming up, and gardening was well advanced. Barley and vegetables of all kinds do well. The season lasts from the middle of May till the end of September. The work of the missionaries in the diocese lies amongst the Eskimo and nine different tribes of Indians namely, the Tukudh, Hare, Mountain, Nehalem, Thikash, Dogrib, Beaver, Yellowknife, and Chipewyan. These all support themselves by hunting and fishing. The work of which the mission on Herschel Island is the centre lies principally amongst the Eskimo and extends along the coast east of the Mackenzie to Herschel Island. Some Eskimo come to the mission from as far west as Behring straits. The eastern Eskimo are still heathen, none of them having been baptized, but they are showing a desire for religious instruction. This desire has arisen largely on account of the marked change in the characters of their Indian neighbors who have become Christians and with whom they were formerly continually fighting and quarrelling. Since the Indians have become Christianized all bitterness between the two bands has gone and they are quite friendly, and the Eskimo are now anxious to learn all about the same religion.

An interesting work is being done under the Rev. T. F. Marsh, at Hay river. The number of scholars in the school there is rapidly increasing and the Indians have gardens which are well cultivated and kept in very good order.

Fort Norman mission is also progressing favorably. Over 20 Indians have been confirmed there during the past two years.

The number of Indian communicants in the diocese is now nearly 1000 all of whom have been baptized. There are also about 160 scholars under instruction. The only native clergyman in the north is in Bishop Reeve's diocese, and is one of the Tukudh tribe. The funds for the work are supplied principally by the G. M. Society of England, with some help from Eastern Canada. Most of the missionaries are from Ontario. There are many openings for extensions of the work, but lack of funds prevent them.

In January last when his house was burnt, the whole of Mrs. Reeve's clothing and most of the bishop's wardrobe, and he had to live in one room, a kitchen about 12 feet square afterwards until the end of March when the weather got mild enough for their removal to larger premises.

The Venerable Archdeacon Macdonald has completed his translation of the bible into the Tukudh language and will come out at the end of August to go east and superintend the printing and publishing of the work.

Bishop Reeve is on his way to attend the provincial synod at Regina and the general synod at Winnipeg, and will return about the end of September.

PROTECTION.

Both before and since the election a number of the manufacturers of Canada and their sympathizers have threatened the people of Canada that they will shut up their factories if the existing tariff is interfered with. In fact many of them have declared that the possibility of its being interfered with renders it necessary that they should curtail their operations, as they have already done. The curtailment of their operations or the closing of their factories simply means the throwing of a greater or less number of men out of employment; and they depend upon the sympathy of the eastern public for their unfortunate operatives to retain the extra profits which they derive from the protective tariff. But there are other people who are entitled to sympathy as well as the operatives employed in those factories, and these are the consumers of manufactured products. A very large and important class of these consumers is composed of the pioneer settlers of Manitoba and the Northwest. The ability of these settlers to pay the profits of the manufacturer assured to him by the tariff as well as the actual cost of the goods in price of material, interest on capital, and wages of operatives depends upon the price which they receive for the products of the farm. These prices were never so low all around at this season of the year as they are now. The Winnipeg Commercial quotes oats 10c to 10½c, barley 8c to 9c, eggs 8c, live hogs 2½c to 3c with 3½c for the very best, wool 5c. The protective tariff has let down the farmers' prices to the lowest notch. Under such circumstances it is worse than robbery, it is destruction of his business, to require the farmer to pay more than the lowest possible price for the supplies that he requires to purchase. The prosperity of the farmers of the Northwest is of more value to the Dominion than all its factories. They are now engaged in a life and death struggle with low prices. The tariff as a means of keeping up the prices of their produce has proven a dead failure. Then it is the first duty of the government to reduce the burdens laid upon the farmer by the tariff to the lowest possible point. Fair play to the farmers does not involve the destruction of eastern manufacturing interests or the throwing of a single operative out of employment, and fair play to the eastern manufacturer and his operatives does not necessarily involve any injustice to the farmers of the Northwest. But a time has come and a condition of affairs exists when the manufacturer cannot longer be permitted to stand like a highwayman in the path of the country's progress with the pistol of his election contributions and controllable votes at the government's head demanding plunder from the producers of the country. And when having failed to hold up the government coach, brigand like he threatens to massacre his prisoners—his employees—if his demands are not acceded to, he must for the good of the country at large be dealt with simply as a brigand; and the western country at least is exactly in the humor to take that course.

The Prince Albert Advocate says that "Mr. Patterson, or even a local man, is certain of election, which ever is the liberal candidate at the bye-election." The reason the Advocate gives: that "a western constituency wants all the help it can get from the government and therefore there is no object in electing a member of the opposition" was scarcely the argument which the Advocate used when supporting Mr. Laurier at the general election.

The Toronto World recently attempted to boom a general conservative convention, ostensibly to overhaul the platform of the party with a view of throwing out some of the more rotten planks. A number of leading conservative newspapers fell in with the idea, but when it leaked out that the principal rottenness that it was intended to dispense with was the present leader of the party, Sir Charles Tupper, that gentleman and his friends promptly put their feet on it. Liberals will have no fault to find with this decision from a party standpoint. As long as the conservative party remains as it is under its present leader, the liberals have an assured tenure of office. Tupper has proved himself to be what is vulgarly called "a snap" for them.

SIR DONALD A. SMITH on being questioned as to the possibility of his becoming minister of the interior in the Laurier government, said that the suggestion was ridiculous—and most people will agree with him. The appointment would be not only ridiculous, but objectionable, particularly in the West. One reason is that the department requires an active administration by its responsible head such as Sir Donald with his many duties could not give it. His appointment would mean a continuation of the present bureaucratic rule, which to put it mildly is very unpopular. But the principal objection to his being invited to accept office in any capacity under Mr. Laurier is that the invitation would mean a continuation of the baneful alliance which has existed since 1880 between the government of Canada and the C. P. R. It would be a statement of the proposition that the C. P. R. is the Northwest. That is what the people of the Northwest have objected to in the past and they object to it just as strongly for the future. By virtue of that alliance the C. P. R. has been the master of the Northwest. The people of the Northwest now propose that it shall become their servant.

The report from the Toronto News that Messrs. Martin, of Manitoba, and McInnis, of British Columbia, both claimants for the position of minister of interior, had devised a scheme whereby both claimants and both sections of the Dominion could be satisfied, may or may not have been correct, but the proposition has certain features to recommend it. There is no doubt that the importance of the interests of the Dominion in Manitoba and the Northwest—which for short may be called Central Canada—demands that these should be represented in the cabinet. Neither is there any doubt that as the interior department to a very great extent governs Central Canada, as it does not any other part of the Dominion, that department should be controlled by a representative from the region interested. In no other way can the head of the department be expected to have a sufficiently intimate knowledge of the conditions of the country and circumstances of the people to enable him to administer the affairs coming under the control of his department successfully in the interests of Central Canada and in the interests of all Canada. At the same time everyone must agree that the interests of the Dominion in the largest of its provinces—British Columbia—having by far the most valuable and most varied resources, situated as it is upon its western coast, more than warrants the representation of that province in the cabinet. The interior department is not particularly concerned with British Columbia, and therefore the representation of Central Canada in the cabinet is not representation of the Pacific Province or Western Canada. All of the departments are interested in British Columbia and yet it pertains to none of them in particular as Central Canada does to the department of interior. If British Columbia has a representative who is eligible the province should if possible be given full cabinet representation; and if that is not possible, the interests of the province could and should still be protected by the presence of one of its representatives in the cabinet, even if he was for a time without portfolio.

PEACE RIVER.

Phillip Tate returned last week from a visit to his son, Albert Tate, H. B. officer in charge of the H. B. Co. post at Dunvegan, Peace River. Mr. Tate is a very old timer in the Northwest, but this was his first visit to Peace River. He left Edmonton on May 14th, taking the usual route, by wagon 90 miles to Athabasca Landing, up the Athabasca 40 miles by H. B. steamer to the mouth of Slave river, up Slave river 60 miles, and to the west end of Slave lake 70 miles by York boat; by wagon 80 miles from Slave lake to Peace river crossing and by wagon 60 miles on the north side of Peace river to Dunvegan. The road from Slave lake to Peace river is exceptionally bad, being through thick timber for the greater part of the way, which keeps the road way very wet and soft throughout most of the summer. On the Peace river side of the height of land between Lesser Slave lake and the Peace, Mr. Tate noticed that the timber and vegetation generally showed a stronger growth than on this side and that the season was more advanced. On reaching Peace river about June 1st the trees were in full leaf, and at Spirit river, 15 miles south of Dunvegan on June 10th, the upland grass was two feet high and was about ready to cut. The south side of Peace river is timbered, but on the north side from the crossing at the mouth of Smoky river to Dunvegan, 60 miles, the country appears to have been originally prairie, but is growing up to timber. Mr. Tate noticed hundreds of old buffalo tracks passing over the prairie many of which led directly through bluffs of poplar, and in those bluffs the trees were growing right in the old buffalo track, showing that the timber had grown there since the buffalo had left the country. At present this section is beautiful high prairie interspersed with many poplar bluffs. The soil excellent and there is no swampy land. It is the most beautiful piece of country in the west. The valley of Peace river is 800 feet in depth, and the river itself is three or four times as wide as the Saskatchewan at Edmonton; deep and with a strong current. The flats along the river are well suited for farming and gardening both as to climate and soil. Last year was very dry and crops were a failure, but this season there had been abundant rains and everything looked well. Crops were as far advanced when he left Dunvegan on July 10th, as at Edmonton when he reached here. On the south side of Peace river opposite Dunvegan and beginning a few miles back from the river is a fine prairie region on both sides of Spirit river which flows east to Smoky river. The H. B. Co. cattle ranch is there and there is a very fine herd of cattle of mixed Durham and Polled Angus breeds. The ranch and herd now belong to Peter Gunn and Chas. Bremner. Several Indians and half breeds are locating on Spirit river near the ranch, building houses and preparing to cultivate the soil. Mr. Tate says the Cree Indians of Peace river are more progressive than their relatives here, and seem to be more prosperous, no doubt having a better country to hunt in. The Beaver Indians, however, who are dying out. South of the Spirit river prairie is a belt of woods some twenty miles in width, and south of that is the Grand prairie, a large beautiful and fertile tract of country extending from Smoky river to the Rocky Mountains. A region of fertile soil, rich grass, beautiful lakes and abundance of game. On the return trip Mr. Tate came down the Peace river to the Crossing on a raft, the trip occupying a day. The crossing of Peace river with freight is very difficult owing to the great width and strong current. It is chiefly made in canoes, and when a wagon is to be taken over two canoes are lashed together to make a steady enough craft. The settlement above the crossing on the north side established by Rev. Mr. Brick is the largest on the river, and what crop was put in looked well. But many of the people were without seed owing to the drought of last year and consequently very little crop was sown. Berries are very plentiful in the Peace river country this season and consequently bears are also numerous. A party of five young Indians in a day's hunt at Spirit river, killed eight bears. At Lesser Slave lake on July 12th, crops were looking splendid and a small crop of field peas was beginning to ripen. Cauliflowers and new potatoes were in use.

The Mooseomin Spectator speaking of the revenue of the North West Territories derived from the Dominion government says: "If the liberal government will give us our own provincial lands and permit us to expand it without irritating restrictions subversive of selfrespect, it will have established its first substantial claim on the confidence of the west. For eighteen years it has criticised and opposed. Its duty now is to initiate, to devise, to control, to develop and to defend."

COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber last Tuesday evening, all members being present except Councillors McCauley and Bellamy.

The newly elected councillor, Mr. G. P. Sanderson, was sworn in and took his seat. Communications were read from W. Short asking that if result of action between P. Heimick and the town is in favor of Heimick, that the council deed the land south of line from Cameron's to Sutter's store to Heimick. W. J. Walker asking that glass broken in his house on Fraser avenue be replaced. S. S. Taylor re 3½ acres of land belonging to Methodist church.

Several gentlemen attended and addressed the council regarding the pound by-law. Sanderson—Edmonton. That this council cannot see their way clear to give P. Heimick title to the land he has asked for in the communication of W. Short.

Sutter—Sanderson. That W. J. Walker be notified that the council has been informed by the constable that the glass in his building on Fraser avenue was broken before the fire brigade practice on the 11th inst., and therefore the town cannot replace the same.

Sanderson—Edmonton. That the communication of S. S. Taylor be referred to solicitor for report.

Sutter—Edmonton. That Councillor Sanderson hold positions on the same committees as held by Mr. L. Cowie.

Kelly—Edmonton. That rules 45 to 50 be suspended for the purpose of introducing by-law No. 121, and that the same be read three times at this meeting of the council.

By-law 121 was then read three times and declared finally passed.

Sutter—Sanderson. That the penalty fee of $1 for the town council collected by the poundkeeper be refunded to the parties having paid the same on account of the pound by-law having been amended so as to reduce the penalty for animals impounded.

Report of special committee re road at lower ferry crossing reported that Mr. P. Heimick asked that a rent of $1 per annum be paid for same commencing with current year.

WETASKIWIN.

R. L. Alexander, of the immigration service, stopped off here from Monday's train.

J. Z. C. Miquelon, postmaster of Wetaskiwin, is perfecting a new model of secret ballot box, which he will patent shortly and expects to realize a fortune out of it.

T. P. Wadsworth, inspector of Indian agencies, and Count de Cazes, agent at Stony Plain, passed through on Monday on the way to Battle River reserves.

B. F. Boyce, of the Diard, returned from a visit to Winnipeg fair on Monday.

Wetaskiwin is a "dry" town just now. Neither of the hotels have licenses.

A number of the leading citizens met Frank Oliver, M. P., on Monday afternoon to discuss a scheme of establishing creameries whereby the land in four townships would be bonded to produce funds with which to supply cows to the farmers and build a creamery. The proposition is that the necessary ordinance is to be passed by the Northwest assembly, but the Dominion would have to step in to render unoccupied and unpatented land security for the bonds and the C. P. R. would have to assist with their exempted land as well, in order to make the scheme a success. No taxation would be required to be raised as the interest on the lands and the principal as well would be paid out of the product of the cows, which when paid for would become property of the farmers. The land would merely be mortgaged. Capital properly directed is all that is required to turn the waste grass of the prairies into a valuable commercial product. But without capital it cannot be done. Then let the capital be raised on the land with the cows, separators and factory as collateral security. The reserved land is all that stands in the way of the success of the measure which means the success of the country.

Messrs. Purches, license inspector, and P. L. McNamara, barrister, visited Wetaskiwin on Tuesday on legal business.

GENERAL NEWS.

A party of 45 immigrants from New England arrived here through Toronto last Saturday for the Northwest. The party was mostly adults bound for Wetaskiwin, Alberta, where homesteads were selected for them by delegates last spring.

Regina Leader: The Buffalo Lake district north of Moose Jaw, where are located a community of the best farmers of Assiniboia, was visited by a severe hail storm on Thursday last week. It is reported that the crops of sixteen farmers were almost totally destroyed. It is an intense blow to particularly good prospects.

The New Brunswick government as sworn in at Fredericton by Lieutenant Governor Fraser is as follows: Hon. James Mitchell, premier and attorney general. Hon. Lemuel J. Tweedie, provincial secretary. Hon. Henry R. Emerson, chief commissioner of public works. Hon. A. T. Dunn, surveyor-general. Hon. B. S. White, solicitor general. Hon. C. H. Lablanc, member without portfolio.

The following information from an exchange is interesting if reliable. At any rate it is cheap and simple. Warts may be removed by various means, but the simplest is as follows: Procure some of the best castor oil, and every night, just before going to bed, rub a little of it into the surface of the wart; then take a soft cloth and dab it on the spot, so as to take away the superfluous oil. This treatment must be continued regularly for several weeks, and in some cases the wart will die away, in others it can be pared off, as the roots will have shrivelled.

The Free Press discussing the proposition to leave off the appointment of minister of interior and the Manitoba school question is settled says: "That is too long to wait. Northwest interests are almost exclusively assigned to the department of the interior, and to put off the appointment of the responsible head of that department, to whom we have a right to look for active and intelligent direction of our affairs, for so long a period, would work serious injury. Western Canada asks that the vacancy be filled within a reasonable time, and that fitness for the position be the principal qualification in considering the appointment. Give us not only a good man, but the best man obtainable, for we want him to decide on his Northwest policy as soon as possible, and to give it a character that will secure for the country the best possible administration of its affairs."
